

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Congratulations to Peter Bridle, Director, Corporate HSEQ for Noble Drilling for Being Featured in NSC Health & Safety Magazine

Houston, Texas (July 27, 2009) – Syntex Management Systems, Inc., world leader of Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) software solutions congratulates Peter Bridle, Director, Corporate HSE&Q for Noble Drilling for being featured in the Executive Forum of the Health & Safety Magazine as an industry leader in safety and health. Mr. Bridle was interviewed for his extensive industry insight of effective corporate leadership yielding in positive results for Noble's safety and health performance.

Noble is known world-wide for delivering the highest standards both in operational efficiency and culture. Instilling an effective safety culture is very important to Noble, through measuring performance by industry metrics of lost-time injuries and total recordable incident rates, but also by rewarding employees for a job well-done if no one is injured. Both Noble and Syntex agree that they share a philosophical alignment regarding exposure tracking, resolving and reporting. Syntex is pleased to see that Noble is being recognized for their expertise in sustaining a successful safety culture and continuously realizing operational excellence.
